Protest Decision of Lee Co. Fair Judges

RULING GIVEN "RAZZ"; RACE MONEY TIED UP

Distancing of Goldie B in Feature Race is Disapproved

In a field of seven starters in the 211 pace at the Amboy fair yesterday afternoon, Goldie B., a favorite of many seasons on the Amboy track, came within one half second of equaling the track record in the second heat when she led the field at a clip of 2:10 1/2. In the next heat Miss Aegon, driven by Bob Peterson of Moline led the field, finishing first after Goldie B. had taken two straight heats, pacing the mile in 2:11 1/4.

The 211 pace was fast in more than one way, there being plenty of excitement coupled with the event after the third heat had been run. Roy Beck of Polo, representing the owner of Goldie B. and Clayton Elliott of West Brooklyn, driver, filed a protest with the judges of the afternoon, tying up the purses of all of the money winners. On two different occasions crowds gathered about the judges stand and the decisions were received with boos and cries of "rotten" by the big crowd that filled the grand stand and lined the fences on the infield.

Fourth Heat: Near Riot.

Goldie B. appeared to be in wonderful form and stepped out in the first two heats and led the field without any opposition. Miss Aegon, driven by Bob Peterson of Moline had finished third in these first two heats and in the third, got away nicely at the pole, coming abreast of Goldie B. and winning the heat. The fourth heat brought about the near riot. There were but four starters and the driver of Goldie B. trailed the other three who scored abreast and received the word. Peterson was driving Miss Aegon to win and on the first lap, Elliott, who was driving the favorite, Goldie B. was notified by Starter William Nobler, that the judges had ruled that he should drive the mile. The distance between the three leaders was widening on the last half mile.

At the finish of the mile, two of the three judges ruled that Goldie was outside the flag and distanced, which action excluded her from the final and deciding heat of the race, as well as putting her out of the money. An argument took place and some warm words were exchanged. Trotting association rules were hurriedly consulted and the decision of the two judges was sustained. The announcement of the result of the heat could hardly be heard above the din of cries of "rotten" and the hooting of the crowd. Owners, drivers and stable attendants thronged the track in front of the judges' stand and wrangled over the decision. The driver and manager of Goldie B. came to the stand and filed their protest, which held up all money until the case is thoroughly reviewed by the American Trotting Association board at Chicago in December. The final heat saw but the one entry, Bob Peterson of Moline driving the mile with Miss Aegon in 1:24 1/2 the slowest time of the afternoon in this class. The result of the races was as follows:

2:20 Pace

Elwood K. L. Ports, Polo.	1	1

NO YIELDING BY CATHOLICS TILL LAW IS CHANGED

Such is Decree Heads of Church in Mexico Today

Mexico City, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Until Mexico's religious laws are amended or repealed, whether it requires months or years to attain this objective, there will be no resumption of Catholic church services in the republic. This announcement was made by the Catholic episcopate in a statement to the faithful, in which the belief is expressed the Mexican government is attempting to create a schism within their ranks.

"But with God's aid," the statement adds, "Catholics will not yield to such threats." The episcopate sees no hope of immediate improvement.

The business depression due to the boycott continues, Catholics in various walks of life assert they will pursue nothing except necessities. Fears are expressed by shrewd businessmen that many failures are imminent. Many "to rent" signs and placards announcing bargain sales are to be seen.

Three hundred teachers in the public schools of Guadalajara have been dismissed because they refused to reply to the government's circular requesting them to state their attitude on the government's religious policy.

statesman and humanitarian of all the ages.

The caravan started at the old court house in Beardstown, going by way of Chanderville and Oakford to Petersburg and Old Salem. The unveiling of the marker at the Beardstown court house was set for 9 o'clock this morning.

Addressees by the three congressmen were to be heard there as well as at the 1 o'clock meeting at Elmwood park in Chanderville, and the 8 p.m. meeting at the court house square in Petersburg.

Twelve different markers have been put in place for these unveiling ceremonies.

CONFESSED MURDERER OF OLD FARMER MAY CHANGE PLEA TO NOT GUILTY THIS AFTERNOON

Frank Sparr Asks to be Taken Into Court Immediately

Vandalia, Ill., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Attorneys for Frank Sparr, who pleaded Wednesday afternoon to the murder of Peter Rosenberger, aged 80, a reclusive farmer of Assumption, notified Judge F. Roy Dove this morning that Sparr wished a hearing in court today. This notification came after a conference of lawyers consisting of J. J. Brown, Arthur Roe and John G. Burnside, all appointed by the court yesterday, and a number of Sparr's relatives.

Judge Dove has announced that Sparr would be arraigned next week for a hearing on his plea and the announcement of his attorneys that Sparr had something to say to the court came as a surprise. There was no indication about what was the cause of the request but it was rumored he would change his plea of guilty to not guilty. There was some indication that an insanity defense will be made for him.

There is a civil suit on trial and Judge Dove says that Sparr could not be heard until the close of the civil suit some time this afternoon.

MANIAC KILLED BY WAR VETERAN IN CHICAGO DEPOT

Chicago, Aug. 27.—(AP)—An immigrant railroad laborer armed with a shotgun, reserve ammunition crammed into a woman's hand bag, and a knife dangling from about his throat, last night killed one man, wounded three others and kept the Illinois Central terminal in an uproar for fifteen minutes before he was killed.

The slow action of his old model single barreled gun played a major part in the termination of the mad man's volleys before they found other victims.

Charles Danloff, barber in a nearby shop, killed the laborer instantly after he had escaped the fire of a policeman.

WILLIAM BERG LOST LIFE IN TRAGIC MISHAP

Auto, With His Wife at Wheel, Went Into River Last Eve

William S. Berg, 422 North Lincoln avenue, met a tragic death last evening a few minutes after 8 o'clock, and his wife narrowly escaped being drowned, when the Chevrolet sedan which she was driving, crashed over the embankment at the north approach to the Galena avenue bridge into Rock river, where the car quickly submerged.

Mr. and Mrs. Berg were returning to their home west of the city and at the north approach of the bridge, at her husband's suggestion, she turned west into Water street to evade heavy traffic. Witnesses state that the car was travelling at a rate of about 25 miles an hour at the time and in making the turn, crashed into a Ford sedan, which was parked on the north side of Water street. In an effort to evade the crash, Mrs. Berg turned her car, which crossed the road, climbed the curb and continued down the steep embankment and into the water.

Youths Saved Woman.

That Mrs. Berg is alive today, is due to the heroic efforts of Melvin Wedlake, Kenneth Dysart and Lyle Prescott, who upon hearing the crash, rushed to the scene and saw the car plunge into the water. The three young men swam out as the car filled with water and settled to the bottom and by diving, succeeded in opening one of the doors. Mrs. Berg crawled through the door and she had sunk for the second time. The lifeless body of her husband, floating in the car, could not be removed until the car had been pulled out of the river about a half hour later. His death is believed to have been due to shock and was probably instantaneous.

As soon as the car was removed from the river, the body was taken out and artificial respiration methods were resorted to, but life was extinct. The dome light in the car was burning and the rescuers could see the body floating about 18 inches from the top of the car but were unable to extricate it.

Mrs. Berg in Bed.

Mrs. Berg was confined to her bed at her home this morning and was unable to attend the inquest, which was conducted by Coroner Frank M. Banker at the Preston mortuary at 9 o'clock. Her version of the accident was given to the coroner at the residence.

At Mr. Berg's suggestion, I turned at the corner of Galena avenue and Water street in order to get out of the heavy traffic," she stated. "As I made the turn west I saw another car parked at the curb and tried to prevent hitting it. The cars struck and that is all I can remember. I recall Mr. Berg calling for help as our car began to fill with water. I did not know what to do but as the water rushed in and the car sank, I climbed through one of the door windows which was open and some one rescued me. I remember trying to break the window in the back of the car but could not do it."

Melvin Wedlake, Kenneth Dysart and Lyle Prescott, who were the first on the scene and conducted the rescue of Mrs. Berg, testified before the jury and as the result of their testimony, a verdict of death due to drowning was returned.

Mr. Berg was born in Fayette county, Pa., Feb. 21, 1862, and had been a resident in and near Dixon for the past 34 years. He was a faithful and highly esteemed employee of the Borden Co. for 12 years. Besides his wife, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Edith Cross of Rockford, two sons, Carl C. Berg of Rockford, and Elmer E. Berg of Sioux Falls, S. D.; three brothers, Robinson, Adam and Jacob Berg of Mt. Pleasant, Pa.; and a sister, Mrs. Katie O'Donnell of New Kensington, Pa. The body will be taken to Rockford Sunday where interment will be made.

NEW STEEL WILL CUT COSTS MANY KINDS MACHINERY

Steel Corporation Has developed Jalose And Tested It

Pittsburgh, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Use of Jalose steel, a substitute for some of the steels now utilized in the manufacture of many kinds of machinery, will undoubtedly tend to reduce the strain on the nation's pocketbook as the production cost is declared to be considerably lower.

The new product, a hard surface steel with a tough but ductile inner core, has been perfected by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation.

The field for the new steel, an official of the company has pointed out, lies in the fact that there has arisen a demand for a steel for parts of automobiles and airplane engines, as well as labor saving devices for the home, office and factory which would serve the same purpose as well as alloy steels without being as costly.

Severe tests of "Jalose" in leading automobile factories and elsewhere in machinery where there are parts subjected to severe wear, repeated shocks and high stresses have resulted in speeding up production and at the same time reducing costs. Other reports on the substitute steel declare it extends the life of cutting tools, augments drilling speed and has full qualifications for case hardening and forging.

These advantages, the company contends, will contribute toward lower selling prices of a large number of commodities in general public use.

Head of State Miners Union Asked to Resign
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Charges that President Frank Farrington of the Illinois Mine Workers had "sold out to the operators" were laid before his executive board here today, over the signature of International President John L. Lewis.

Acting upon evidence the board wired Farrington at Paris, France, asking pointedly if he didn't "intend to resign."

International President Lewis' charges were that Farrington had signed a three year contract to work for the Peabody Coal corporation at $25,000 a year.

"We expect Farrington's resignation at any time," one of the miners officials said, asking that no one of the organization be quoted regarding the matter.

The evening fair was the largest of the week and all who attended were well repaid. All of the featured free acts appeared on the platform and were at their best. There was a program by the V. M. C. A. boy's band of this city and several selections by members of the Speed Bowl Quartette of Sterling. The fireworks program was one which has never been equaled on the Amboy fair grounds.

At the conclusion of this part of the program, the midway was thronged and the dance floor accommodated a capacity crowd until midnight. The drum and bugle corps of the Mendota lodge of Elks filed into the grounds just as the evening program was opening and favored with several selections, boosting the LaSalle county fair.

Second Primary in Texas Nearing End
Dallas, Texas, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The second Texas primary campaign for the democratic gubernatorial nomination closed today with Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and Attorney General Dan Moody using the Ku Klux Klan and "Fergusonism" issues respectively as whips to keep their supporters in line for the run-off balloting tomorrow.

They will face the barrier with Moody's backers claiming the inside track by virtue of his 120,000 vote lead over the woman governor in the July primary race. The attorney general, however, lacked 1,700 votes of a majority in the first primary, necessitating the run-off.

Moody has carried his slogan "down with Fergusonism" to all parts of the state. James E. Ferguson, husband of the governor, has been active in the field with daily speeches charging Moody is supported by the Klan and the "oil interests."

Mrs. Ferguson has made but one speech.

THOSE WHO LIFT—

There are some men and some women in whose company we are always at our best. While with them we cannot think mean thoughts or speak ungenerous words. Their mere presence is elevation, purification, sanctity. All the best steps in our nature are drawn out by their intercourse, and we find a music in our souls that was never there before. Speedy Courtship Plus the Wedding

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Capricious Cupid cut some speedy capers here yesterday, which resulted in the marriage of an aged Missouri farmer and a comely California maiden.

L. J. Baker, 76-year-old Wayne county farmer, and Miss Juanita Murilla, 28, of Los Angeles, met here yesterday afternoon.

He suggested lunch. She was hungry. So they dined. He said he loved her and wanted her to marry him. She consented. Two hours later they were married.

"Speed is my motto," the aged bridegroom said as he led his bride from the altar. "This long courtship stuff don't go with me."

And the bride smiled her approval.

LUNCHEON—Cold sliced veal, sliced tomatoes, whole wheat bread, tapioca cup pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Fruit cup, fried chicken, milk gravy, mashed potatoes, creamed corn, cabbage and celery salad, watermelon sherbet, plain cake, milk, coffee.

Keep in mind that children under 10 years of age should not be allowed to eat "green corn" unless it is grated. The covering on the kernels is hard to digest and in warm weather particularly children must not have their digestion overtaxed.

Tapioca Cup Pudding.

One and one-half cups hot milk, 2 tablespoons minute tapioca, 2 eggs, one-third cup granulated sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons confectioner's sugar, two small bananas, bitter chocolate.

Add hot milk slowly, beating constantly. Return to double boiler and cook until mixture thickens. Cool, add vanilla and pour into individual glass cups. Beat the whites of eggs until stiff and dry, beating in confectioner's sugar. Rub bananas through a sieve and add to egg whites. Pile on the tapioca custard and sprinkle with a few gratings of bitter chocolate.

Gnagey-Thompson Wedding Wednesday

The marriage of Miss Virginia Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Thompson of Mount Morris to L. J. Gnagey of Milledgeville, took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Paul Studebaker, pastor of the Brethren church at Milledgeville, a class mate of the bridegroom at Mount Morris college.

An improvised arbor of greenery, yellow daisies and snow-on-the-mountain, in the living room, formed the setting for the ceremony, which was preceded by a short program of nuptial songs by Miss Ruth Kuhlman of Pearl City. Miss Kuhlman sang, "Oh, Promise Me," by deKoven, and "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond.

The bride was attended by Miss Elza Prien of Milwaukee and Prof. Paul Gnagey of Coleman, S. D., brother of Mr. Gnagey, was best man. Miss Prien wore Aliceblue georgette, with ecru lace trim and carried a fan arm bouquet of pink Columbian roses. The bridegroom was of white georgette embroidered in silver, her Prie case veil of white silk tulle was caught by orange blossoms and her bouquet of pale pink butterfly roses, white sweetpeas and lilies of the valley.

An informal reception followed the ceremony. Mr. Gnagey and his bride left on a wedding trip through the upper-lake region of Wisconsin and will be at home after September 7, at DePue, Ill., where Mr. Gnagey is in charge of high school athletics. The bride, a graduate from the Madison High school in 1920, attended in Kindergarten Training school in Milwaukee, studying juvenile literature, and took special work at University of Wisconsin in literary and advertising lines. She has had charge of the classified advertising department of the Poultry Tribune at Mount Morris for the past three years.

Mr. Gnagey is well known as an athlete at Mount Morris and is in the Little Nineteen Conference. He is a four-letter man in both football and basketball, as well as a two-letter man in track. He has been a member of the Mount Morris college quartet which met with much success broadcasting from Davenport and from Station WLS, Chicago. He is a school member of the trustee boards.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Gnagey and daughters, Evelyn and Sarah, Milledgeville; Prof. Paul Gnagey, Coleman, S. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gnagey, Morrison, Ill.; Miss Elza Prien, Milwaukee; James McCord, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Madison of Madison, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray McCartney, Winfield, Kansas.

Co. Fair Exhibits Unusually Good; Merited Praise

Probably the Lee County Fair of the season of 1926 will go down in history as one of the most successful ever held in the state. And Thursday, Aug. 26th was a Red Letter Day all over the grounds.

In visiting Floral Hall one was immediately impressed with the neatness and beauty of the display arranged so invitingly. This year there were 10068 entries and G. H. Killmer, who has been superintendent of Floral hall for the last five years, says that exhibits are more complete and beautiful than ever before.

Down the center of the long hall a table bears its burden of fruit and vegetables and flowers, vegetables resting on the first tier, fruit on the next and flowers on the highest tier. Lee county can compare with any other county most favorably in these wonderful displays. Vegetables almost perfect in growth and excellence and fruit so tempting that it is hard to refrain from helping oneself. And flowers! Here one sees the result of much patience and care in the lovely display of blooms.

In glass cases are loaves of golden brown home made bread and rolls, delicious cakes and cookies. Then the canned goods, fruits and vegetables and jellies, etc. And needlework, and embroideries, the result of much patient effort and skill. Art has a corner for the display which reveals much real talent. There are also other exhibits in Floral hall, farm products, such as grains, etc. and oh, yes, the largest pumpkin in Lee county proudly takes up all the room it can! One can spend a half day in Floral hall and come away filled with wonder and thankfulness for the privilege of living in a country which yields so graciously of its bounties to sons and daughters who diligently avail themselves of its advantages and opportunities.

A few feet from Floral hall is the educational hall or institute and here are many things of interest to the inquiring mind, and the exhibits of the various schools in the county which are of interest to everyone. One thing which cannot fail to impress everyone who visited this hall are the results which the health crusade has achieved.

show how well these lessons drilled into them by the teacher and school nurses, have taken root. "Sleep with the windows open." "Take a bath often than once a week." "Brush the teeth every day." "Eat more vegetables than potatoes each day." "Eat some fruit each day." are many of the axioms pictured out intelligently and even beautifully by the youngsters. Map drawing, manual training work, and painting and drawing have exhibits which would do credit to adults. Sewing displays by the school girls were exceptionally fine.

Then there are maps illustrated with electric lights which make one stop and ponder—for these lights show in different colors the number of accidents and deaths in the different counties in the state on the much traveled highways and will do much to educate the careless driver if he studies them, but the careless driver is the one who needs no caution until calamity overtakes him.

At one end of the hall are exhibits and reminders of the Dixon Y. M. C. A. and its excellent teachings and work for boys. And out on the grounds in the band stand the Dixon Y. M. C. A. boys band is faithfully and tunelessly fulfilling its contract. More than one person was heard to remark that the boys were on the job all the time, most generous with their music which is of a high order.

In speaking of the more worth while interests on the grounds, many of which cannot be mentioned because of lack of space, the booth containing the work of the insane patients at the state hospital must not be overlooked, as it is wonderful to note the accuracy and beauty of design which is accomplished by the unfortunates sick in mind. In this booth one could be examined by accredited doctors and nurses in a medical clinic and also in a dental clinic. Preceding over the display from the insane patients was a nurse driver is the one who needs no caution until calamity overtakes him.

Interest from that hospital and also the state. The floor is like glass and excellent music is provided each night. And speaking of order, for a large concourse of people such as gathered at the fair yesterday, it is remarkable that such excellent order is maintained everywhere. It was an orderly, well mannered crowd out for innocent pleasure and fun.

Miss Florschuetz Was Honored Guest

Misses Anna Wood and Marcella Bremer entertained last evening at the home of Miss Bremer with bridge, in honor of Miss Henrietta Florschuetz, whose engagement to Otto Elmer of Ashton was recently announced.

At bridge Miss Helen Winger received the first prize and Mrs. L. A. Craig received the consolation prize, while Miss Florschuetz was presented with a dainty guest prize.

The Bremer home was beautifully decorated with garden flowers in gay mid-summer colors. The hostesses Misses Wood and Bremer served delightful refreshments and everyone spent a most enjoyable evening.

DOESN'T PAN AMERICA.

The Pan American Union is just out with its official report, in the form of a fat pamphlet, of the first Pan American Congress of Journalists recently held in Washington. Dr. Leo S. Rowe, the Union's director, writes the foreword. Of the congress the doctor speaks with justifiable pride, as "successful even beyond the expectations of those entrusted with the preparatory arrangements." He very modestly, however, omits to claim any credit for the Union. It would not have been out of place had he done so.

The Pan American Union really is doing a great work toward the development of friendly relations between the new world republics. And, of all things, it's needed.

Washington diplomacy, generally speaking, doesn't understand Latin America. It understands Europe far better. It understands even the Orient better. Washington constantly rubs Latin America's fur in the wrong direction. It's well meant, but unpleasant. Latin America doesn't like it. North American business does the same thing. The Latin American buys what he has to here, but if he can help it, he doesn't trade in North America.

Even the Monroe Doctrine is unpopular in the southern republics. Its too possessive. Now, the Pan American Union knows all this. Naturally it does, for that's what it is—a Pan American Union. It includes the whole outfit. Every time Washington diplomacy says something peremptory or North American trade is brusque or the Monroe Doctrine is a trifle too much emphasized, there's the Pan American Union on the job, representing everybody, unofficially but efficiently to take the raw edge off.

Gradually the Union is introducing Latin America to the United States, too.

These visiting Latin American editors, for instance—they didn't look like comic opera revolutionists. Undoubtedly they opened some North American eyes, at their congress and during the tour of the country which followed it. The Pan American Union is constantly arranging some such exchange of courtesies. They do more good than all the treaties in Pan American history. It's the Union's mission and it makes a good job of it.

CITIZEN-SAVERS.

America is the most reckless nation in the world, and the lives of children comprise no small part of that recklessness. More than 21,000 boys and girls under 15 years of age were killed in accidents last year. England, thickly populated as it is, has a child accident fatality of less than half that figure.

What's the answer? Playgrounds, says the Harmon Foundation, which is engaged in developing play centers throughout the United States.

Playgrounds are more than health-savers; they are life savers. Youngsters are going to romp and frolic whether they have playgrounds or not, but it is up to the cities to decide whether they shall bat their baseballs under trees or under trucks. The streets and highways of this country will become increasingly congested as the population and consequent number of motor vehicles increases.

London has a playing field in a densely populated district which children have used for recreation for more than a thousand years. There are many others that have long been established. Hundreds of people owe their lives to them.

About the only thing around the house which father can claim for all his own is the bills.

The most becoming rouage on the market is healthy food and plenty of good exercise.

Don't let summer get you down. While there's weather there's hope.

Her Own Way.
A STORY OF
A GIRL OF TODAY

A GREAT CHANGE

I have never seen a man so astounded as John Meredith, when I asked him to take me to a theater and then to a cabaret. If he had been facing a lion he could not have expressed more terror.

"Do you mean it, do you really mean it?" he asked. "Would you be seen in a public place, a beautiful girl like you, with me, a man who is 'deformed'?"

At that word he shuddered a little and really I was sorry that I had said it to him, but I knew that he must have a big jolt to get him out of himself.

"Why shouldn't I be seen with you?" I asked, impatiently. "Has no one ever told you that you are one of the handsomest young men in the city?"

"No, I've never been in the city long enough. Men wouldn't tell me that and I've never met any women." "Well, how do you like it?" "I can't say that I exactly hate it," he said, with a grin which changed his whole face.

I cannot say that I had told the exact truth, but with the smile on his face my flattery had become no lie. I scrutinized him rather carefully and then said, "Keep that smile that won't come off, and you will be the observed of all observers."

"Good word. I hope not."

"Do you want to back down?"

"And have you call me a coward, Judy?"

Instead of answering I said, "Now that you've called me Judy I know you like me. Shall we take John?"

Is that man Symington presentable?" "Of course," John Meredith said, my hands. "I didn't know a girl could be like you," he said.

"They're all like me, John," I said. "If you give them a chance."

"Then I've missed a lot," he said, with another grin.

We were standing there holding hands when the butler announced Mr. Symington.

"Come in," I want to introduce you," John said. "Miss Dean, this is Mr. Symington, the man who is going to Darkest Africa with me, Harry, Miss Dean and Joan and you and I are going to the theater tonight. Will you get us some seats?"

The man, catching sight of our clasped hands, halted in amazement.

"Do you mean that, Jack?" he gasped.

"Of course," said John, and with another grin he dropped my hand and they walked away, he limping a little more, perhaps, than ever before.

Manuscript, 500 Years Old, Has Been Stolen

New York, Aug. 26—(AP)—A 500 year old religious manuscript valued at $15,000 has been stolen from the National Arts Club.

The thief not only purloined the most valuable manuscript of the $2,500,000 collection of Otto H. E. Vollbehr of Germany, but took the padlock of the glass exhibition case containing it. Dr. Vollbehr has offered a reward of $1,000.

The manuscript "The Book of Hours" was in Latin, and especially illuminated in the 15th century for the ancient Sforza family of Italy.

It contained four miniatures by Al-

PIRATES ON TOP AGAIN IN DIZZY NATIONAL RACE

Phillies Bumped the Cards Out of Pinnacle Position

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The trim Buccaneer craft with a four point margin, was in the forefront again today in the race for honors in the National League. Yesterday the St. Louis Cardinals were half a game in the lead but that was before the Phillies, hitherto considerably battered by the rest of the league, suddenly came to life and edged out a 3 to 2 victory. When Cincinnati kept an its merry way by trimming Dazzy Vance 3 to 1, the Cardinals found they not only had lost the leadership but must share second place with Cincinnati.

Pittsburgh, spurred to the attack by Paul Waner, outfielder from the coast, slammed the offerings of four New York pitchers to win the start of a three game series 15 to 7. Waner gathered six hits in as many times at bat.

The Cardinals' defeat was disappointing to them in that Philadelphia could garner but eight hits off Haines while thirteen were clattering from the St. Louis bats.

Pitcher Wertz gave the Boston Braves their only run when he broke Guy Bush's string of 25 scoreless innings with a fluke homer. Chicago took the game 3 to 1.

The Philadelphia Athletics took two overtime games from St. Louis. The first was decided 8 to 6 in 11 innings and the second 4 to 3 in 12 innings.

The Senators took two from Chicago 9 to 3, and 1 to 0.

Dempsey's Wife Will Not See Husband Fight

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey assumed the role of a bachelor today. He is living in a bungalow with attendants and he will be a bachelor until after his fight with Tunney.

The titleholder bade goodbye yesterday to his wife, Etelle Taylor. She left for Hollywood. Mrs. Dempsey has no desire to see her husband fight. "I couldn't stand to see Jack punished," she said.

Pauline Labudda, a strapping Wisconsin German girl, who spent two years in the White House kitchen when Woodrow Wilson was president, reigns supreme in the kitchen of the bungalow.

Dempsey set to work on a new set of sparring partners yesterday but they failed to withstand the bombardment. Two of them crumpled before a round.

"TRUDY" WELCOMED HOME IN MANNER ACCORDED GREAT

American Girl Hailed by Home Folks in Regal Manner

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Gertrude Ederle's home town took on a festive air today.

"It took Washington to cross the Delaware and Trudy to cross the channel" was the welcome of a streamer, waving out of a little dry goods store on Amsterdam avenue near her dad's butcher shop.

First on the welcoming program was the meeting of the liner Berengaria, with Miss Ederle aboard, at Quarantine by the steamboat Macon, carrying the Mayor's committee and Miss Ederle's mother. Arrangements were made for the transfer of Miss Ederle and her father from the Berengaria to the Macon for them to proceed to the Battery amid cheers, music and the shrill tooting of harbor craft.

Lower Broadway arranged a characteristic welcome with a parade and all the fanfare accorded to the nation's most distinguished guests. Mayor Walker had a scroll and a medal for her in a formal presentation at City hall.

The real homecoming was reserved till Miss Ederle arrived in Amsterdam avenue where Judge Levine was designated to deliver an address of welcome and state Senator Bulkley to present a silver loving cup.

Miss Ederle's home neighborhood has been preparing for days for the great event.

Miss Ederle will have dinner tonight at the McAlpin hotel and attend the "Follies" afterward.

Miller Gets Decision in Fight With Glick

Chicago, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Ray Miller of Chicago, started fast in his ten round bout with Joe Glick of New York, last night and won the referee's decision. Miller was the aggressor throughout but Glick attempted a comeback and improved in the latter rounds.

Glick weighed 130 pounds and Miller 127.

Says One of Big Four Will Meet Mme. Lenglen

Philadelphia, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The statement that a member of the American Davis cup team, one of the big four in tennis, Tilden, Richards, Johnston and Williams, will be the opponent of Suzanne Lenglen when she begins her professional tour, comes from Chas. C. Pyle, sport promoter.

Pyle made the announcement at a banquet given in his honor, but refused to intimate which member of the American team he meant.

Asked whether Wm. Tilden would be Mme. Lenglen's opponent, Pyle declined to say. He added however, that he had not discussed the matter with Tilden.

The Davis Cup matches will be concluded Sept. 12. Pyle said that Suzanne, whom he recently signed for a tour of America for $100,000 would reach New York Sept. 27.

Tunney Took Day Off for Nine-Mile Hike

Kelvinator does NOT cost more!

Why be satisfied with less?

When we make the statement that Kelvinator does not cost more, we make it without reservation. Compare model with model—food space with food space—ice cube capacity with ice cube capacity, and you'll find that Kelvinator actually costs less than other systems not so long on the market.

Then, too, you choose from the world's largest line; you get the system of longest proved life; and a standard of quality that has never been excelled.

Such values are made possible by the fact that Kelvinator is built by the world's largest organization devoted exclusively to the manufacture of electric refrigeration for the home.

This year Kelvinator developed a Household Budget Purchase Plan that makes Kelvinator very easy for anyone to own. Now there's no reason whatever, why any buyer of electric refrigeration should be satisfied with anything less than a Kelvinator.

Flashes of Life

Williamstown, Mass.—Song birds in other parts of the country who want to attain stardom like Marion Talley might have the Kansas prairie analyzed by a chemist. A scientist has informed the Institute of Politics that perhaps cultural traits can be induced by fertilization of the soil in which foodstuffs are grown.

Philadelphia—A married man should have one night a week off, in the opinion of Judge Gray, a bachelor. And so he freed a hubby accused of desertion after quarrels that started, when he would not explain where he went every seventh night.

New York—A suggestion for birthday parties where a candle for each year would crowd the table. At a dinner to August Hecksher, philanthropist, there was one candle marked with degrees like a thermometer to indicate he had lived 78 years.

STERLING GARAGE MEN "KIDNAPPED" BY THREE YOUTHS

Slugged, Robbed and Forced to Ride in Stolen Auto

Three unmasked men each carrying a 45 caliber blue steel revolver, laid up W. E. Llewellyn, Ralph Scott and Harry Shuman, at the Sterling garage, in Sterling, a few minutes after 12 o'clock Thursday, grabbed in the neighborhood of $100 in bills and half dollars, leaving the smaller change in the cash register and safe, stole E. M. Rocho's Hudson sedan, forced Mr. Llewellyn to fill it with gas, loaded the three garage men into the back seat of the car and whisked away with them. Mr. Scott was struck over the head with a revolver when he refused to put up his hands, a severe gash being left in his scalp, which bled profusely. The men were ordered out of the car two miles north of Drew's corners. Llewellyn and Scott were bound hand and foot and the men were tying Mr. Shuman up when they heard a car coming, dropped their work and ran to the car and fled away.

According to the story as related by Llewellyn he was stooping down to pick up a car just to the right of the east driveway in the garage. Mr. Scott had just walked up to where he was working and Mr. Shuman was washing a car on the rack about 15 feet to the west of them. The first they saw of the bandits was when two of them stepped out of the office door and ordered Mr. Llewellyn and Mr. Scott to throw up their hands. At the same time a third bandit came around the west driveway and upset Mr. Shuman on the floor. Mr. Llewellyn did not raise his hands as the bandit covering him, grabbed him by the throat and told him to put them up as they meant business. Mr. Scott refused to put up his hands and the fellow covering him struck him a vicious blow over the head, cutting his scalp to the bone. The blow dazed him and the wound bled profusely. The three men were forced to lay down on the floor behind a truck and as one of the bandits stood guard the other two went after the money. Being unable to get into the safe, one of the men came back and wanted to know who had charge of the safe and register. Foullying their guns, they demanded that Mr. Llewellyn open the safe and cash register, which he did. The bills, some checks and some half dollars were taken, the men not stopping for the smaller change.

Pile Men Into A Car.

The two bandits backed Mr. Rocho's sedan out of its stall on the west side of the garage, then made the three men get into the rear seat of the car. Mr. Scott was dazed and weak from the loss of blood, there being a pool of blood on the floor of the garage where he lay, and his clothing was saturated. One bandit got in the rear seat with the three Sterling men while the other two occupied the front seat of the car. They kept their guns in their hands all the time so there was no chance to make a break and get away. Just as they were leaving the building one of the bandits told the driver to drive up to the gas pump. Mr. Llewellyn was told to get out and fill the car with gasoline. At the same time one of the men kept him covered. Just as they were leaving, Mrs. J. A. Mathis drove in to the west entrance of the garage. One of the bandits wanted to know whose car it was and when informed that it belonged to Dr. Mathis, he told the driver to step on the gas as the alarm would be given soon. The car shot west on Fifth street to Ave. B, then north to Sixth street, thence east to Locust street, south to Fourth street, thence east around the park and on east out the Lincoln highway to the Prairieville corner. They talked the matter over as they drove along and suggested turning north. After going north about a mile they lessened the speed of the car and figured on letting the three men out, but saw a barn nearby and that the men would attract the attention of the people in the house and spread the alarm.

Tied and Left in Corn Field.

The driver took a road toward the east and finally stopped and the three local men were removed from the car and taken to the side of the road where they were forced to lie with their faces down. Before getting out of the car one of the bandits asked Mr. Scott if his head was still bleeding and being informed that it was, he pulled a handkerchief out of his pocket and gave it to him. The others asked if there was any laundry marks on it and the bandit said no. One of the bandits took a roll of tape out of his pocket and taped the feet of the men securely and then took Mr. Llewellyn's and Mr. Scott's hands and crossed them and taped them tight. They were just taping Mr. Shuman's hands when they heard a car. Mr. Shuman's boots had been removed by the bandits and thrown into a corn field before his legs were taped when one of the men said the approaching car was high powered and to jump into their car. They sped south to the Lincoln highway. Mr. Shuman was soon loose and he cut the tape from the others. They walked down the road a short distance to a farm house. The farmer awakened by the bandit car is it shot past, was standing in the doorway of his home as the three Sterling men walked into the yard.

Mr. Llewellyn phoned the Dixon police to be on the lookout for the car. Mr. Llewellyn said that up until the time of the holdup there had been people coming in and out, but during the ten or fifteen minutes required to pull the affair no one happened in.

The bandits were young men around 25 or 26 years of age, well dressed in blue serge suits with a light stripe. Two were around six feet tall and the other a trifle shorter.

Cudahy's Puritan Ham

Finer Flavor because

ripened naturally

Cudahy's Puritan Ham is distinguished for its finer flavor and delicious tenderness, and it owes these qualities to the special Cudahy method of curing.

This exacting method of preparing the young meats selected for Puritan, slowly and naturally diffuses the rich, meat juices without forcing or hurrying. The result is like tree-ripened fruit, compared to artificial ripening.

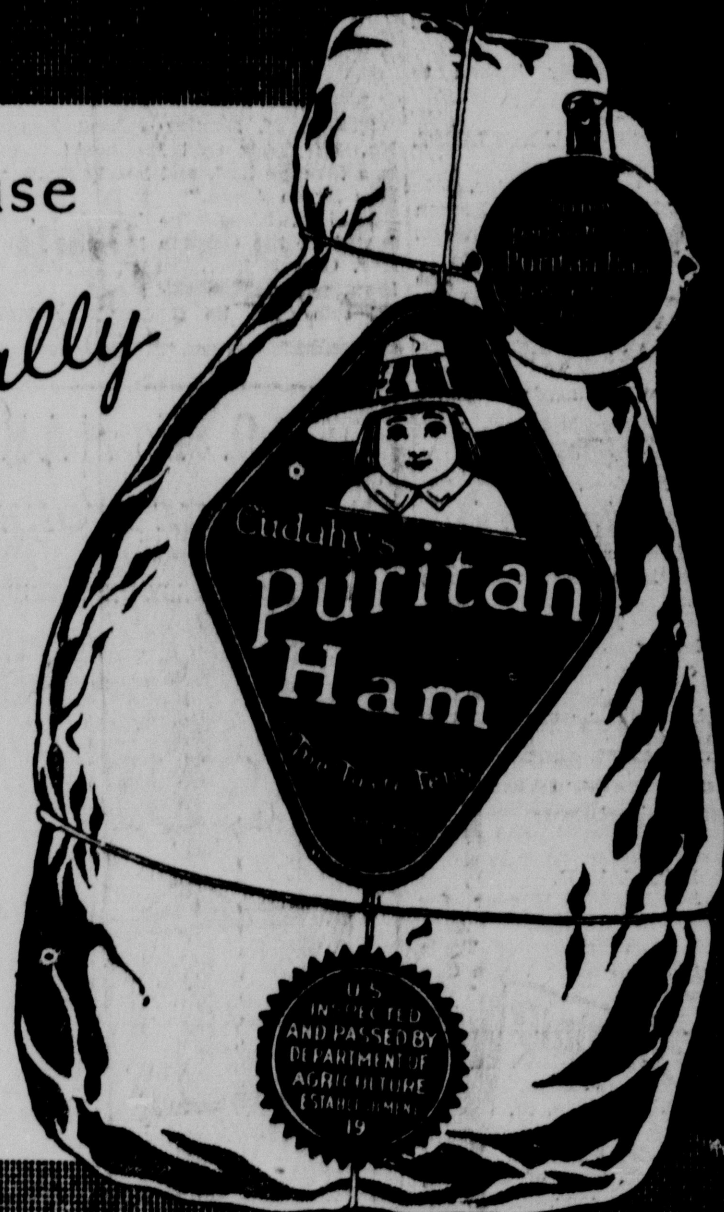

You will be delighted with Cudahy's Puritan Ham. It is so easy to prepare; you do not need to parboil. Puritan ham stands high in food value and necessary muscle and tissue building elements; and is so easily digested. At your dealer's.

Good Thoughts for Good People

The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make straight in the desert a highway for our God. Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low: and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain: And the glory of the Lord shall be revealed.

Isaiah.

Not that which men do worthily, but that which they do successfully, is what history makes haste to record.

Beecher.

Doing good is the only certainly happy action of a man's life.

Sir P. Sidney.

Follow, with reverent steps, the great example Of him whose holy work was doing good:

So shall the wide earth seem our Father's temple, Each loving life a psalm of gratitude.

Whittier.

The greatest success is confidence, or perfect understanding between sincere people.

Emerson.

Sanctification carried into every activity clears out all that is wrong or imperfect, and prepares the way—makes straight the path—for an influx of good, an influx of success—It is the honest endeavor to understand God and His demands, and willingness to meet His demands as far as apprehended.

Seek to Share in Huge Estate of Senator Clark

These three women have gone to Butte, Mont., to seek shares in the estate of the late Senator W. A. Clark, claiming they are his daughters. They are, left to right, Alma Clark Hines, Addie Clark Miller and Effie Clark McWilliams, all of Kansas City. The Clark estate is worth millions of dollars.

administrative body, the World's Committee, have their headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland.

Has Great Influence.

The influence which Dr. Mott wields among the two million members of the Y. M. C. A. throughout the world is based, his associates say, on two qualities: a powerful personality, and intense religious zeal that keeps him more than half of each year away from his home at Montclair, N. J., carrying him into every corner of the world. Early this summer he returned from a tour of six months through the Orient and the Pacific Islands, only to set out almost immediately for Europe to preside over the Helsinki Conference and two other world gatherings.

Since his graduation from Cornell University in 1888, at which time he became a Y. M. C. A. secretary, Dr. Mott has been honored by many nations. The United States gave him a Distinguished Service Medal during the World War, and President Wilson offered him the post of minister to China, which he declined. He is a Knight of the Legion of Honor of France, and has decorations from Japan, China, Italy, Greece, Poland, Portugal and Spain. The city Salonic named one of its principal streets after him. He has had a close acquaintance with several presidents, and often was called into consultation by Presidents Wilson, Harding, Roosevelt and Taft.

For many years Dr. Mott was Chairman of the Student Volunteer Movement, which is concerned with the recruiting of missionaries for the mission boards of various Protestant denominations. At present he is chairman of both the International Missionary Council and the World's Student Christian Federation. Indeed, from the formation of the latter body in 1895 until his resignation in 1920, he was the Federation's general secretary, in which capacity he made extensive tours, studying the academic life of many countries. He founded student movements in India, China, Japan and other countries.

His First Position.

Dr. Mott's first position with the Y. M. C. A. was as a traveling secretary working among the universities and colleges in the United States and Canada. In 1915 he succeeded Dr. Richard C. Morse as general secretary of the International Committee, and in December, 1924, upon the organization of the National Council, became general secretary of that body.

During the war, Dr. Mott was general secretary of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A., which directed the war services of the American Young Men's Christian Association, with an expenditure of about $167,000,000. He was also director general of the United War Work Campaign, in which seven welfare agencies combined to raise $189,000,000, "the largest voluntary offering in history."

Dr. Mott holds honorary degrees from Yale, the University of Edinburgh and Princeton. The late James Bryce, former British ambassador to

What Do Your Clothes Weigh? Four and a Half Ounces Suit This Girl

Mary Maybery, one of Mack Sennett's well known bathing girls, out Hollywood way, got curious the other day about the exact weight of her summer costume. So she got a pair of scales and decided to find out. With superb modesty, she provided herself with a parasol, too. At the left we have her before she started—fully and neatly clad. In the next picture she has her hat and dress on the scales—weight, one and one-half ounces. In the third picture she has put her shoes and stockings with them—weight, three and three-quarters ounces. And in the last picture, thoughtfully raising the parasol, she has put her black thingummy on the scales too. The whole outfit weighs just four and a half ounces.

DON JUAN

Novel by
INEZ SARASTEN

Copyright, 1926, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"Don Juan," screen play by Bess Meredith, starring John Barrymore, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
His father's warning—"Destroy women or they will destroy you!"—has made Juan the greatest lover of all time. His cynicism is checked by Madonna-like Adriana. Loving her, he reforms, but learns the emptiness of infatuation. Adriana, who loves him, and Donati, her kinsman, who covets Adriana. The Borgias contrive to have Juan catch Donati in Adriana's room under circumstances that destroy his faith. Cynically he becomes the lover of Lucretia, while he saves her father Adriana marries hateful Donati. On the wedding night Juan tries to forget Adriana by dallying with another woman.

She shrank back into a corner of the wide, cushioned seat. Her eyes filled with tears. Wearily Juan rose and walked away. He had changed greatly since his last meeting with Adriana, on the night when he found Donati hidden in her room. He was thinner, paler, and his mouth had a bitter twist. He walked slowly toward his bedroom, pausing near the door to give an order to Pedrillo. The servant picked up the lady's coat and took it to her. Juan turned, with a merciless smile, as she rose to let Pedrillo slip the cloak around her shoulders. Appealingly she held out her hand toward him. He shrugged his shoulders, went into his bedroom and closed the door behind him. Bobbing, she left the house. The bitterness had left his face, but he looked like a man haunted.

He tore her arms from his neck and hurled her from him.

He beat the palm of one hand with the clenched fist of the other, turned to glare at the nearest window, through which came the tolling of the bells, and turned again, to sink into a chair and then rise to pace the room again.

There was a noise at the door. He whirled to face it as a woman entered the room, and smiled grimly as he recognized the Marchesa Rinaldi.

She ran across the intervening space to him. Her voice trembled when she spoke.

"My husband suspects!" she cried. "I hurried here to warn you."

The grim smile did not leave Juan's face.

"Indeed!" he murmured, apparently only amused at her news.

Desperately she went on. "Help me, Juan!" she urged. "If he learns the truth it will end everything for me. Happiness—honor—my very life will be ruined. Help me!"

Juan was quite indifferent, rather bored, in fact. His own suffering was so great that that of anyone else could not touch him.

"You should have considered all this before," he told her, diffidently.

She cried out wildly, as if she had been given a mortal hurt. But before she could speak again there came the sound of clenching hands pounding on a door. Frantically she choked back her cries, turned to listen, turned back to Juan again.

"My husband!" she exclaimed. Juan would have gone at once to open the door, but his progress was impeded because of her clinging to him. At last he released himself from her hands.

"Let us end this tiresome farce," he exclaimed, and she could not know that he meant not their deception of her husband, but his own life. The thought had come to him that possibly Rinaldi, finding her there, might try to kill him. What a relief if the effort was a success!

She sank to her knees, remained huddled there on the floor, as Juan went to the outer door, unbolted it and threw it open.

The Marchesa Rinaldi faced him. Jealousy and suspicion were in his eyes, as they met Juan's, then craved on to where his wife crouched. He cried out like some Muttering a curse, he tore her arms from his neck and hurled her from him.

Juan wondered at himself. He had not meant to laugh, yet it was as if some force which he could not control was governing him; the hatred of life that had had its way with him since he lost faith in Adriana never for an instant lost its power.

He felt as if he were taking part in some scene that had no reality. He stood calmly watching the Marchesa, realizing her desperation all too well—it was akin to his own mood.

But he was not prepared for her next action. Drawing a short, jeweled dagger from the bodice of her gown, she drove it into her breast, straight toward the heart.

Juan stood, dazed. Rinaldi, with a cry that Juan felt would ring in his ears forever, ran to her, caught her falling body in his arms, and lowered it gently to the floor. Still holding her, he murmured endearments, kissed her hair, begged her to forgive him for his cruelty. And dying, she looked not at him, but at Juan.

Infuriated, Rinaldi laid her dead body on the stone floor and leaping to his feet, stood glaring at his wife's lover.

"You shall pay for this!" he cried, his voice thick with rage. His face was like that of a madman, twisted with fury. "You killed her, as surely as if your hand had struck the blow. You shall pay—"

Juan watched him coldly. Then with liberation he sauntered to the door, unbolted it, and as he flung it wide, called to Pedrillo and the two men who sat drinking, awaiting Juan's return to the room.

Juan's voice was a lazy drawl; one would have said that he had no interest at all in what he was saying, had it not been for the way his eyes narrowed, and the tenseness of his body.

"A tragedy, gentlemen, in place of the usual comedy," he announced. "The husband, as it happens, has killed his wife!"

Rinaldi cried out in protest. Pedrillo and the two men ran to seize him. Juan stood watching coldly while he struggled, shouting accusations against Juan, declaring his own innocence.

Drug-Giving Youth is Being Held in Prison

Cleveland, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Emil Kunesco, 21, medical student, will be held in custody until city chemists report on the analysis of drug and medicines found in the stomach of his sweetheart, Dorothy Elizabeth Kirk, 21, whose death in a hospital Sunday led to the young man's arrest. If the report finds that the girl died from the effects of the drugs which her suitor is alleged to have given her, Kunesco will be charged with manslaughter, police said. If he is exonerated of Miss Kirk's death he will face charges of administering drugs in violation of the state pharmacy law.

Coroner A. P. Hammond said poison had been found in the girl's stomach but preliminary examination failed to show a quantity to produce death.

IN NEW YORK

New York—Out where the west begins to get next to the tourist possibilities they have a summer sport known as "dude wrangling".

It consists of gathering groups of "dudes" from points east, herding them on a "dude ranch," dressing them in Stetsons and cowboy attire and, for a liberal fee, giving them a taste of "western life."

The Broadway variation of this pastime is "yokel steering."

It is sort of a return favor to those living west of the Hudson.

It consists of gathering groups of "yokels" from points west, herding them on the gay white way, dressing them in night club attire and, for a liberal fee, giving them a taste of "Broadway life."

The "steerers" are, for the most part, wise and attractive girls who have achieved 33rd degree membership in Broadway.

They are ex-hostesses and chorines put "at liberty" by the fact that so many night clubs close their doors when the hot nights arrive.

But well do they know that tourists from everywhere are hitting town and their eye is particularly cast for the buyers arriving from way points for the fall and winter season.

They have "tie-ups" with various resorts under which they receive a goodly percentage of the money spent.

Some of them use professional models, giving a fee for an introduction to a "butter and egg" prospect.

The model meets the easy-money man in pursuit of her daily duties. The buyer wants to "have a party."

The model agrees to help him. She "knows a girl who knows Broadway." And she gets hold of the "steerer."

A day or so after she is rewarded with a check.

Sometimes the "steerers"—particularly those who have been night club chorines—manage to get model jobs and thus make an even fatter profit.

Each "wrangler" has a particular supper club to which she "steers" her prey.

The pretty maid assures the "visiting fireman" that he must be prepared to "do a little spending" and wishing to be a "wise guy," the victim winks knowingly.

The rest is simple. When the "wrangler" brings in her man she is spotted at once by everyone from the headwaiter down. They proceed to send the victim "to the cleaners," as they say on Broadway.

Many hours after the victim is sent home with a terrible headache, the

"she-wrangler" goes back and collects her percentage of profit.

Which, not infrequently, is handsome.

Half the World Away!
Over the road to the country—not many motor miles from home—you will find a new world. A world of sparkling sunlight, clean winds and far horizons. A world of beauty and adventure and dreams come true. The joy of living will get into your blood. You will glory in the strangeness of new roads, the freedom of wide, sunny fields, the mystery and magic of nights beneath the stars.
Any road around you will take you "half the world away." Discover the wonder and the rich romance of the Middle West! Here is a list of pleasure places. See what you can add to it!

- 1—The Homestead Mine, largest gold mine in the United States, at Lead, South Dakota. The average annual output is over $6,000,000. Total depth of the Ellison shaft is 2,420 feet. Over $500 is spent for explosives every day of the year. State Highway No. 30.
- 2—Maribel Caves, Wisconsin. Curious caves in limestone formations near State Highway No. 16 between Manitowoc and Green Bay.
- 3—Clifty Falls State Park, Indiana. Rugged, thickly wooded, with many deep gorges. Contains Clifty Falls, ninety feet in height, and a series of many smaller cascades. Near Madison, State Highways No. 40, No. 26 and No. 6.
- 4—Old Fort Larned, six miles west of Larned, Kansas. On an island in the Arkansas River, a battle occurred in 1870 between the Cheyennes and Arapahoes. National Old Trails Road.
- 5—The Camel's Hump, a two-crested butte near the town of Sentinel Butte, North Dakota. State Highway No. 8.
- 6—Pilot Knob, Missouri, a shaggy peak rising 1,600 feet above sea level, named by Mississippi River pilots when river travel was in its heyday from the fact that its sharp summit was a guide post on clear days. North of Ironton, State Highway No. 21.
- 7—Piasa Bluffs, Illinois, where Father Marquette in 1673 found the famous Piasa Bird and other weird monsters painted. Piasa Bird has been restored. Wonderfully picturesque district. North of Alton, State Highway No. 3.
- 8—Pine Lake, Iowa, a pleasure resort of surpassing beauty. Artificial lake fringed with white pine and filled with rainbow trout, bass, and other game fish. Indian mounds nearby. Near Eldora, State Highway No. 58.
- 9—Kitchiti-kipi, the Big Spring, in the virgin forest near Manitowish, Michigan. Sixty feet deep, four hundred feet across. The water is so clear you can watch a coin fall until it rests on the bottom, and so cold that no animal life can exist in it. About four miles off State Highway No. 12.
- 10—The Gunflint Trail, in Minnesota, a unique thirty-mile road built for the use of the Forestry Service and opening up the most beautiful part of the Superior National Forest, hitherto practically inaccessible. From Grand Marais on State Highway No. 1 into the wilderness.
